Social and Emotional Learning

A JABADAO Early Years and Primary course

Social and Emotional Learning (2 days)

For: early years practitioners, primary teachers, learning support assistants, learning mentors and behaviour and education support teams

This two day course examines the importance of children's natural desire to engage in movement play, showing how and why this is a vital part of their developing social and emotional skills

Provides fresh understanding about the role of early movement in building neurological maturity, as well as practical ideas for supporting children to use their first language – movement – to express and explore themselves

Supports SEAL curriculum aims and the National Strategy for Early Years 'Social and Emotional Aspects of Development'
